

Matthew Butler DGBB

I have been writing and directing since the age of twelve, first in theatre, then also film when my first short film won best short in a local festival in Manchester. Training at Rose Bruford college of Theatre and Performance and working as a professional actor has given me invaluable tools, which I now carry through into directing. My work as a director has been screened and won awards at festivals around the world and feature films Miss in Her Teens and Two Down are currently being sold in various countries. My company, Fizz and Ginger Films, was chosen to be part of Screen International's 'Stars of Tomorrow 2013', and we continue to work in theatre.
