I'm an experienced producer, and multi- and single-camera director. I can also shoot and edit for single camera; and I'm experienced in using the Tricaster and Convergent Technologies Apollo to vision mix. I've directed live shows on all the main channels (and some of the smaller ones!)

Recent credits include Susan Calman's Antiques Hunt, Celebrity Carols At Christmas, Shop Smart, Save Money and Today at The Great Yorkshire Show, all for Channel 5.

In lockdown I've been making videos for a charity, mainly of music performances.

Earlier credits include:

- Emmerdale as a director;
- Junkyard Wars (The US version of Scrapheap Challenge);
- game shows including Countdown and Jungle Run;
- and I was a producer on the BBC Computer Literacy Project.

I've made a range of science and technology shows, including:

- Bad Influence!, a computer games and technology show for CITV;
- Star Date, a live space events show, including the BBC's live coverage of the Transit of Venus;
- Science Shack, a BBC2 series that answered important questions such as: could a person walk on water, and could you build an invisible car? (Yes to both...)

I've held two senior executive posts: Head of Children's and Education for Yorkshire Television; and Deputy Controller of Children's Programmes for Granada Media.

I've won several awards, including a BAFTA, an RTS, and two gold medals from the New York Film Festival.

For the last 9 years I was also a Senior Lecturer in TV Production at the Department of Theatre, Film and Television at the University of York. Before that I was Director of TV Production Training at the University of Leeds; and I ran various directing, shooting and editing training courses for the industry.
